Complaints About a Financial Professional

Negotiation and mediation

Filing a complaint is not always the best first step.

Talk with the professional to see if you can agree on a solution. Professionals can explain the situation and suggest solutions.

A mediator can help you talk to the professional.

Learn more about negotiation and mediation on Éducaloi's website:

www.educaloi.qc.ca/en

Go to the topic "Legal System" then "Legal Conflicts."

Ask for Financial Compensation

You have options for getting your money back:

- Submit a claim to the Fonds d'indemnisation of the AMF or to the Canadian Investor Protection Fund.
- Take the professional to court.

Fonds d'indemnisation of the Autorité des marchés financiers (AMF)

Fonds d'indemnisation des services financiers (Autorité des marchés financiers, AMF)

If you are the victim of fraud by a person who has an AMF permit, you have one year from the time you learned of the fraud to file a claim. The maximum amount you can claim is $200,000.

www.lautorite.qc.ca/en

Go to “Assistance, Complaints and Compensation.”

- 514-395-0337
- 418-525-0337
- 1-877-525-0337

Canadian Investor Protection Fund Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada (IIROC)

If you invested your money with an insolvent firm that belongs to the IIROC, you have 180 days from the time the firm became insolvent to file a claim. The coverage limit is one million dollars for each type of investment.

Insolvency means the firm is bankrupt or clients no longer have unrestricted access to their accounts.

Take the professional to court

Filing a claim with a compensation or protection fund might not be enough. You can also take the professional to court to try to get your money back. You usually have three years to go to court.

Which court you go to depends on the amount of money you're claiming.

Small Claims Division of the Court of Québec (small claims court)

You can claim up to $15,000 in small claims court.

The rules are simpler than in other courts. Usually, you must represent yourself in court. But a lawyer can help you prepare.

Court of Québec and Superior Court

For claims over $15,000 but less than $85,000, go to the Court of Quebec. For claims of $85,000 or more, you must go to Superior Court.

The rules in these courts are stricter. It's best to consult a lawyer.
